The students attended an interactive session at the seminar hall on the history of growth and development of the Library and how a library effectively provides the services to the users. The interactive session by the senior officials of the library was engaging and full of motivating words for the students of Library and Information Studies.

The students were guided by the library officials through the technical sections of the library. Starting from the reprographic unit to the classification unit of the library the students got exposure to new learning that authenticated and reciprocated the classroom study. A hands-on experience in the Automation and Technical processing Section is worth mentioning. The students could have a comprehensive knowledge about the functioning of a public library in totality. The Braille Section of the library was a great learning experience. The students got motivated to effectively use the library resources of The State Central Library, Kolkata. The visit to the reading section and other units of the library was a new experience to the learners. The interaction and doubt clearing queries to the library officials reveal their utmost interest and satisfaction with the learning experience. The students were guided by Sri Pragati Bandhu Sarkar, in-charge of the library. The visit was accompanied by faculty members and other staff members of the college.

Objective:

The primary objective of a student visit to the State Central Library, Kolkata, is to provide students with an opportunity to explore and understand the significance of libraries in promoting knowledge, literacy, and lifelong learning. The visit aims to familiarize students with the library's resources, services, and collection, while also encouraging them to develop good reading habits and research skills. Additionally, it seeks to inspire students to appreciate cultural and literary heritage by exposing them to a diverse range of books, manuscripts, and archives.

Outcome:

1. Exposure to Library Resources: Students gain a better understanding of the library's vast collection, including books, journals, newspapers, and digital resources, which can be useful for academic research and personal development.
2. Enhanced Research Skills: By learning how to locate and use different resources in the library, students can develop research skills, such as referencing, citation, and data gathering.
3. Increased Interest in Reading: The visit can stimulate a love for reading and encourage students to read beyond their prescribed textbooks, leading to a more well-rounded education.
4. Understanding Library Systems: Students get to learn about library organization, cataloging, and the Dewey Decimal System, which helps them navigate libraries more effectively in the future.
5. Appreciation of Cultural Heritage: Exposure to the literary and cultural heritage preserved within the library.
6. Motivation for Lifelong Learning: The visit can inspire students to view libraries as valuable resources for continuous learning, research, and self-improvement throughout their lives.
