REPORT ON THE PROGRAM

On June 6, 2023, the Department of Political Science, in partnership with IQAC, hosted a special lecture in Room No. 15. The speaker for the debate was Dr. Partha Pratim Basu, a Professor in the Jadavpur University, Department of International Relations, and the topic was "The Essential Steps in Social Science Research." Students from the CBCS syllabus in the second and fourth semesters made up the audience. This presentation aimed to provide students with a clear grasp of how to conduct research and motivate them to start research projects as soon as possible. Dr. Manishankar Roy, the principal, gave a welcome speech.

Dr. Basu introduced the subject by pointing out the need for social science study. How research plays a major role in the advancement of any field. Professor Basu organised his two hours of discussion into seven sections: 1) Formulating the Research Problem; 2) Examining the Literature; 3) Design Preparation; 4) Research Design Development; 5) Sampling Design Selection; 6) Data Collection Instruments; and 7) Data Analysis and Hypothesis Testing. Prof. Basu made the discussion more engaging by giving examples from everyday experiences and activities while he explained each section.

Students must complete a paper under the CBCS curriculum covering the research components. Students also asked questions, and Dr. Dipannita Sanyal, Head of the Department of Political Science, gave a vote of thanks to end the event.

THE OUTCOME OF THE PROGRAM

In any discipline, research is essential to its future development. Compared to science, social science research requires far more attention and can be applied in a wider range of contexts. It is crucial to support students not just academically but also to spark their interest in conducting research shortly. Professor Basu has successfully piqued students' curiosity.
